ROYAL SALUTE

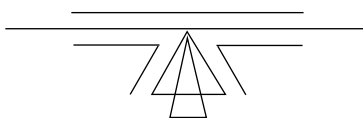

SCOTCH WHISKY

In 1953, the young Princess Elizabeth ascended the throne. This occasion called for a tribute fit for a Queen, and so, an exquisite blend was created using whisky from Strathisla, the oldest working distillery in the Scottish Highlands.

It was given the name Royal Salute after the famous 21-gun salute ceremony. It is unique in having only ever used whiskies aged at least 21 years in its blends, and it is this commitment that has earned it the reputation of being known as the "King of Scotch," along with its informal motto: We Begin, Where Others End.

At TATEL, we celebrate this legacy with an exclusive collection of Royal Salute expressions
